Nolin celebrates communities during National Co-op Month

October is National Co-op Month. At Nolin RECC, we are always excited for this annual opportunity to celebrate our members and our communities.

Because we are member-owned, decision making and operations all tie back to the communities Nolin is a part of. From Magnolia to Radcliff—and all the places in between—we share a common bond of cooperative power lines that energize our lives, homes and work.

Improving the quality of life in our communities is an everyday mission at the co-op. It's why we support economic development initiatives aimed at bringing new jobs to our area. It's also the reason we support local schools and why our cooperative system maintains a strong alliance with the Kentucky Community & Technical College System.

We honor the lives of community members through activities such as Nolin's sponsorship of Honor Flight participants. We provide an all-expense-paid trip to Washington, D.C., for local veterans so they can visit war and military memorials erected in their honor. Though the 2020 trip unfortunately had to be canceled, Nolin will continue our support when the tour resumes in 2021.

Families of sick children benefit from the hands-on support co-op employees provide to the Ronald McDonald House in Louisville. Our efforts help to provide lodging, meals and other comforts for local families who must stay in the city while caring for a hospitalized child.

Our commitment to communities also means you can count on the cooperative to always have your best interest at heart. Helping you manage your energy use with tools like our free SmartHub app and the Virtual Energy Assessment on our website is another way we show that commitment.

October may be Co-op Month, but our commitment to the people and communities we serve remains constant.

Along with delivering safe, affordable and reliable electricity, we're always working to improve the quality of life in the places we call home.

Celebrate National Co-op Month by winning cash

As we celebrate National Co-op Month, we encourage our members to sign up for paperless bill notifications—it's an easy way to keep track of your bill as well as reduce the amount of paper in your home. Those who sign up during October for paperless bill notifications, or are already signed up, will be entered in a drawing to win cash!

We are giving away five $100 and two $250 prizes to the winners of the drawing. All you have to do is be signed up for paperless bill notifications through SmartHub—if you have not already signed up, it only takes a few minutes.

If you need help signing up for paperless bill notifications in SmartHub, call us (270) 765-6153 or check out the “how to” video on Nolin RECC's YouTube channel.

Operation Round-Up Recipient Spotlight: Your spare change is changing the world

The Community Health Clinic is a 2020 recipient of an Operation Round-Up community impact grant. The Community Health Clinic's mission is to provide basic health care, dental care, prescription assistance, advocacy and education to the uninsured and underinsured residents of Hardin, LaRue, Meade, Breckinridge and Grayson counties in order to enhance access to health care in these five counties. The grant enabled the clinic to purchase personal protective equipment and medical equipment for their staff and patients.

Operation Round-Up is a voluntary program for Nolin RECC members. Members can choose to “round up” their monthly bill to the nearest dollar and those funds go back into the community in the form of impact grants. Operation Round-Up grants help organizations like the Community Health Clinic realize their mission—and Nolin members make it all possible.

Would you like to make a difference in your community? “Round up” your monthly bill by giving us a call at (270) 765-6153.

Be safe, think ahead

October 4–10, 2020 is Fire Prevention Week. The National Fire Protection Association suggests ways to help prevent electrical fires.

- Have all electrical work done by a qualified electrician.
- Do not use extension cords for long-term, regular use.
- Test AFCIs (arc fault circuit interruptors) and GFCIs (ground fault circuit interruptors) regularly according to manufacturer's recommendations.

- Use a lightbulb with the correct number of watts for the device.
- Watch for discolored, sparking or warm wall outlets. Call a professional to check these and any other potential fire hazards.

Go to nfpa.org for more information on preventing fires.

Help your friends and neighbors—shop local

Did you know that our Co-op Connections Card gets you hundreds of discounts from local businesses? This benefit is just another reason to celebrate co-op membership. To sign up for a Co-op Connections Card, stop by our Radcliff or Elizabethtown location or go to www.nolinrecc.com. Does your business want to participate with the Co-op Connections Card? Give us a call at (270) 765-6153.

OVERHEAD LINE SAFETY

WHEN IN DOUBT
LOOK UP AND OUT

LOOK UP...

- When using tools of any kind, especially when trees are nearby.
- When using cranes or other lifting devices that approach working distance within 20 feet of power lines.
- When putting up scaffolding, framing a building, painting, pruning trees or picking fruit.
- When moving a tree under a power line. Determine the overhead clearance from the top of the tree. Trees can conduct electric current.
- When working on top of buildings.

When working on an outdoor project, stay at least 10 feet away from overhead lines. If your ladder or piece of equipment touches an overhead line, both you and the equipment can become a path for the electricity.

Nolin director honored for service

Nolin RECC Director A.L. “Buddy” Rosenberger was recently honored by the board of directors at East Kentucky Power Cooperative (EKPC). Buddy represented Nolin RECC on EKPC’s board from 1988 until August 2020. In that time, he served as the board’s secretary/treasurer, and on the board’s executive committee, strategic issues committee, governance committee and audit committee.

No fall member advisory council meeting

Because safety is always our top priority, we will not hold a Nolin RECC Member Advisory Council (MAC) meeting this November due to the ongoing public health situation. At this time, we plan to hold an in-person meeting in the spring of 2021 to select the nominating committee for next year’s director elections.
